Great Subscription To Dominion Loan

Toronto, Sept. 27.—This morning's quota of special subscriptions to the new Dominion of Canada refunding loan was the heaviest reported to date, a total of $6,750,000 being subscribed in the morning by three banks and a trust company and a manufacturing concern.

The banking subscriptions aggregate $4,500,000 and are for the investment accounts of individual institutions, apart from applications made on behalf of depositors.

In addition to these big subscriptions the influx both of medium sized and small subscriptions is being well maintained and swelling the total to date to a very substantial figure.

Predicts Freight Cut Within Thirty Days

Prince Rupert, Sept. 27.—Speaking here last night, Premier Oliver predicted that within thirty days there would be a reduction in railway freight rates. This port, he said, was a natural outlet for grain from Alberta to the Orient.

The Premier said it was the policy of the Government to build a motor road out of Prince Rupert when the financial situation allowed. Answering criticism and charges that people were leaving the Province, Mr. Oliver declared that as a

British Member Says England Should Finance Immigration Plans

Ottawa, Sept. 27 (Canadian Press).—As an aid to Canada's immigration, the British Government should build and pay for branch lines from the outlying districts in the West to the main lines of the Canadian Railways, suggested A. A. Somerville, member of the British House of Commons, who was in Ottawa yesterday to discuss with Government officials the British colonization scheme. As soon as the various districts had been settled, the branch lines could be sold to the Canadian Government Railways, he added.

Another suggestion was that the Federal and Provincial Governments lease several hundreds of thousands of acres of land to the Old Country government, which could take it over and develop it. Mr. Somerville would like to see the Canadian Government spend the money now used for unemployment doles to settle British emigrants in this country.

EMPIRE PRODUCERS SEEK PREFERENCE

Draft Memorandum To Submit to Conference

London, Sept. 27 (Canadian Press Cable).—The British Empire Producers Association, to which a number of leading Dominion and Colonial Associations are affiliated, has prepared a long memorandum for submission to the Economic Conference. It contains recommendations on empire trade preference, development of empire resources and on the question of arrangements to ensure continuity of the work initiated at the conference.

The memorandum also asks the conference to cast its influence in the direction of giving all contracts to empire firms and also urges the conference to coordinate the food supplies upon a whole empire basis, recommends that the imperial and overseas governments establish a fund to advertise the use of empire products within the empire and suggests the creation of a committee composed of home and overseas government representatives to carry on the work of the Economic Conference.

Noted Women Writers Are Guests Here

Prominent Literary Women Visit Here at Close of Press Club Convention

Victoria to-day has the privilege of entertaining some of the most notable women in Canada. One hundred and forty delegates from the Triennial Press Club Convention came over to-day from Vancouver to be entertained by members of the craft in this city and by the Women's Canadian Club, which will hold a reception for them to-morrow.

Not only are many of the delegates writers of distinction, but some are also leaders in various branches of women's work, and fill important public positions.

Among those, however, who have been specially prominent during the convention, must first be mentioned Miss Kenneth Haig, who will lead the destinies of the Canadian Women's Press Club for the next three years. Miss Haig is one of the doyens of Canadian journalism, and wields considerable influence in the central prairies. In the Manitoba Free Press her pen appears every Saturday, and is almost entirely editorial, covering all phases of activity and interest in which the welfare of her sex are concerned. She writes under the pseudonym, "Alison Craig."

Miss Lucy Doyle, the retiring president, is well-known to newspaper readers as "Cornelia" of the Toronto Telegram.

She occupies one of the leading positions in the journalistic world, and is a most efficient presswoman, and the club has made fine growth during her three years' guidance.

B. C. President Mrs. Isabel Ecclestone Mackay, is again vice-president for British Columbia, and is always a welcome visitor in Victoria. It is pleasant to claim her as a neighbor, which, since she came to live in Vancouver in 1909, we are justified in doing. She was born, however, in Woodstock, Ontario, of Scotch and English parentage, and her work is well and favorably known throughout the English speaking world. She is a frequent contributor to all the leading periodicals, writing delightful stories and verse of fine lyrical quality. Two of her best known stories are "The Passing of Cadieux," won for her the $100 prize offered by The Toronto Globe for the best story in the Dominion of Canada, and "The Window Gazer," all books of fine workmanship, fresh, vivid, and showing a keen analytical mind. She is a woman of a happy and glowing personality, and has three charming daughters, Phyllis, Margaret and Janet Pricilla. Her friendship with that rare and sensitive poet, Marjorie L. C. Pichik, was well known.

See Evil Spell of King Tutankhamen in Second Death

London, Sept. 27.—The superstition that King Tutankhamen still exerts a malign influence on the disturbers of his tomb has been revived by the death in London yesterday of the Hon. Audrey Herbert, half-brother of the late Earl of Carnarvon.

His friends recall that he strongly objected to the earl's activities at Luxor, believing it unlucky to interfere with the tombs of the dead. When the burial chamber of Tutankhamen were laid bare, Mr. Herbert remarked: "Something dreadful will surely happen in our family."

SURGEONS ARRIVE FOR CONVENTION

Eminent U.S. Practitioners Come From Portland Meeting

Public Gathering Scheduled For Friday Evening

PUBLIC HEALTH MEETING FRIDAY

The public, and particularly representatives of local governing bodies in this district, are invited to attend the meeting at the Empress Hotel at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening for the purpose of hearing addresses on public health topics in non-technical language. Lieutenant-Governor Nichol will deliver the address of welcome to the gathering, which will be held under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons.

Victoria will welcome to-morrow a large party of medical practitioners to attend the British Columbia-Washington sectional meeting of the American College of Surgeons. This gathering will continue two days.

The procedure at these sectional gatherings follows well-tried lines, including clinics at the hospitals, technical meetings, and a public gathering where health subjects are explained.

The local committee has been facilitated in obtaining a number of leading American surgeons to attend the gathering, owing to the fact that this session immediately follows the Portland meeting for the Oregon-Idaho section, held on Monday and Tuesday. Dr. James T. Case, of Battle Creek, Michigan, Professor of Roentgenology in the Northwestern University Medical School, surgeon at Battle Creek Sanitarium, and Dr. Allan D. Craig, of Chicago, the Associate Director of the American College of Surgeons, in charge of State and Provincial activities, both of whom arrived this afternoon from Seattle, were speakers at the Portland meeting. Others arriving this afternoon included Dr. Dennis Crie, of Chicago, and Dr. J. B. Eagleson, of Seattle.

PROVINCE SEEKS CONTROL OF RICH ISLAND MINERALS

Sloan Asks Beatty to End Dual Control in Railway Belt and Aid Development

New Negotiations Make Settlement Probable; Valuable Ore Bodies Involved

Negotiations to eliminate the present dual control of minerals in the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway belt on Vancouver Island and open it up for development have been resumed between the British Columbia Department of Mines and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, it was announced at the Mines Department here to-day.

Following a preliminary conference on the subject with E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, yesterday, Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, is inclined to believe that an agreement on the mineral control question will be reached.

The administration of the minerals in the 2,000,000-acre railway belt now lies between the Province and the company, the precious metals, gold and silver, being vested in the Crown, and the base and surface metals belonging to the company. This has interfered with prospecting within the belt and the development of its mineral resources, an unsatisfactory condition which Mr. Sloan has been endeavoring to have removed.

CANADA'S TRADE OUTLOOK BRIGHT, CITIES REPORT

Factories Report Orders to Ensure Steady Work

Abundant Harvest Stimulates Activity, Manufacturers Hear

Toronto, Sept. 27.—Without inducing too much optimism, reports from most of the principal cities in the Dominion which have reached the office of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association recently indicate that, on the whole, the trade situation during the next six months will be better than it was last year. Lumbering, it is expected, will be particularly active, while a large number of factories report that orders have been received such as to ensure steady work for several months ahead. A brighter outlook for the Fall and Christmas trade faces the wholesale and retail trades in most cities. Reports from western centres show that the abundant harvest has had a marked effect already, stimulating activity in many directions other than agriculture.

THREE BANDITS MAKE RAID ON TORONTO BANK

Fell Manager With Blow Over the Head

Speed Away After Emptying Contents of Cash Drawer

Toronto, Sept. 27.—Three men entered the St. Claire Avenue West branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia this afternoon, held up the manager, teller and two women customers who were in the office, scooped all available money on the teller's counter into a big black bag and got clear away. The amount taken by the bandits is at present unknown. Leroy Oke, manager of the branch, was hit on the head with a revolver when he attempted to resist. He recovered as the bandits were going out, and with blood streaming from his wounds, he chased the fleeing men down the street. A few blocks away, however, they jumped into a standing automobile and sped away.

Struck Manager

The teller was in his cage when the robbers came in. One of them forced the door of the cage open and proceeded to fill a leather bag with the contents of the cash drawer.

Oke, the manager, was in the meantime struck down at the door of his office. Miss Margaret Swither, one of the customers, despite a revolver aimed at her, made a move to leave the bank on the pretext of going for a doctor to attend to Oke who was lying in an unconscious condition.

"If you make a noise," shouted one of the bandits at her, "there will be murder here." Miss Swither remained standing in the bank while the men went about their work of emptying the teller's cage.

REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT IN BAVARIA LEADS TO MILITARY DICTATORSHIP

Strike of Six Thousand Recklinghausen Miners, With Thousands of Others Expected to Follow As Protest On Ruhr Surrender, May Be Followed By General Rioting

PARIS REGARDS SITUATION AS FULL OF DANGEROUS POSSIBILITIES

President Ebert Names Dr. Gessler, Minister of Defence in Stresemann Cabinet, Military Dictator of Germany to Counteract Communists

London, Sept. 27.—Dr. Gessler, Minister of Defence in the Stresemann Cabinet, has been appointed military dictator of Germany by President Ebert to counteract the Bavarian revolutionary movement, says a Central News dispatch from Berlin.

Paris, Sept. 27.—The German Government has practically been handed over to a military dictatorship, it is deduced from the dispatch received this afternoon from the Berlin office. The situation is regarded as full of dangerous possibilities but as furnishing no basis at present for any action on the part of the Allies.

Midnight Session Berlin, Sept. 27.—At a hurriedly called midnight session of the German Cabinet, attended by General von Zeck, the Chief of Staff, the immediate proclamation of a state of emergency throughout Germany was decided upon and Minister of Defence Gessler was given executive authority to put into force any military or police measures he might deem warranted.

The action is construed in London and other quarters as virtually placing Germany in the hands of a military dictatorship. The action of the German Government was taken as news of the appointment of Dr. von Kahr as military dictator of Bavaria was received and the proclamation issued was intended as an offset to the Bavarian manifesto.

Unexpected Bavaria's position is wholly unexpected and the Government leaders were at first at a loss to account for it. Although it is not viewed as a studied affront to the central government, the move is viewed as a piece of censorship criticism of the way in which the Berlin Government called off the dogs of resistance in the Ruhr. This view prevailed despite assertions from Bavaria that her measures were wholly prompted by the suspicious activities of the guards of Adolf Hitler, the National Socialist leader, and their allied organizations.

Official opinion in Berlin inclines to the belief that Dr. von Kahr will be fully able to cope with the situation in Bavaria, and that the break there is unlikely to extend beyond the Bavarian frontiers, despite a noisy agitation of the factions classed as "super-patriots," whose fighting spirit is asserted to be grossly over-estimated.

Great Nervousness Great nervousness prevails in Munich and it is generally believed here, according to reports to the Berlin newspapers, that Hitler, leader of the Bavarian "Fascist" and favoring the separation of Bavaria from the German Reich, thinks the time has come and intends to turn loose the forces which he commands. If he does so, there are fears in some quarters that the "putsch" would not be confined to Bavaria and it is unofficially suggested that it was probably with this in mind that President Ebert issued the decree imposing a state of emergency throughout Germany.

To Forestall Hitler The naming of Dr. von Kahr, with dictatorial powers in regard to some anxiety, it being considered that such extreme measures prove the situation in Bavaria is serious and that the Bavarian Government is determined to use every means to nip in the bud any attempted coup by the Bavarian National Socialists, under the leadership of Adolf Hitler.

A dispatch to The Tagblatt from Munich states that by appointing Dr. von Kahr as dictator, the Bavarian Government wished to forestall the proclamation of Hitler as dictator. Although a Bavarian decree prohibits all public meetings, Hitler's followers have arranged fourteen meetings for to-night at which he is slated to speak. All other meetings in Bavaria arranged by the National Socialists have been cancelled and orders given for the Nationalists to concentrate at Munich.

Berlin, Sept. 27.—Passive resistance in its latest stages fully fanned to "moral pressure" in regard to France and Belgium, and became so weak that it had shrivelled to a mere shadow of its former self, said an official of the German government in discussing the psychological phases of the Ruhr situation.

Athletic meets in the occupied cities, he said, were as well patronized by the natives that the admission tickets gave out, and it was necessary to open the gates to accommodate the clamorous spectators. (Concluded on page 2.)

WORK STARTED ON THE ANGLICAN MEMORIAL HALL

Parfitt Bros. Rush Foundation Work For Stone Laying Ceremonies

Seven Bishops Expected to Attend Important Function on October 1

A start was made to-day in the construction of the new Anglican Memorial Hall, first unit of the Christ Church Cathedral group. The contract has been awarded to Parfitt Bros., Ltd., which firm started on the foundations to-day.

This speedy commencement has been made in order that the laying of the foundation stone on the site at the corner of Courtney and Vancouver Streets may be consummated on October 1, when no less than seven bishops are expected to take part in the ceremonies.

Gymnasium Later The contract omits the gymnasium section of the memorial hall, as planned by Architect J. C. M. Keith. This course has been taken to cut initial costs to accord with available funds. The work now in hand will cost from $55,000 to $60,000, and will include the main auditorium, many classrooms, ladies' guild room, synd offices, superintendent's office, cloak room and sundry service quarters.

These provisions for the conduct of the affairs of the diocese will occupy the eastern end of the completed structure, and the contract with Parfitt Brothers provides that, if the diocese shall require the erection of the gymnasium as a part of the completed structure, with reasonable latitude in time, in order to raise the funds, the complete building shall be erected at a total cost of approximately $75,000, exclusive of the plumbing, heating and electric wiring.

Heavy Investment With all the sundries included, the construction of the memorial hall will require about $90,000. The heating plant proposed to be installed will be of sufficient capacity to serve the proposed new cathedral, which is included in the plans of the cathedral buildings committee.

Local Stone Used The memorial hall will be constructed of local stone, faced with cut stone, and will be two stories in elevation, with a spacious basement under the greater portion of the structure. The roof will be of a steep angle, covered with fireproof asbestos slates. Ten months to one year will be required for the completion of the hall, the addition of the gymnasium sector making little difference to the time required, should the committee decide in favor of immediate procedure with this portion of the work.

WOMEN WILL NOW SERVE ON JURIES

Fair Sex May Be Found on Both Grand and Petit Juries at Fall Assizes

Following amendments made in the Jury Act last year women will be called to sit at the Fall Assizes in the capacity of jurors, it was definitely learned to-day. When the Assize Court opens here on October 15 women jurors will be found on the Grand Jury as well as the petit jury panels, it is expected.

The selection of jurors to act at the Fall Assizes was completed recently by the officials appointed for that work, and those chosen in the ballot will be served in due course. Though the name of all jurymen and women are withheld, for obvious reasons, it is known that, for the first time in the history of the city, women will sit on one, if not on both panels.

POLICE CLASH WITH LONDON UNEMPLOYED

Heated Mob Locks Guardians in Room

Baton Blows Put Twenty Extremists in Hospital

London, Sept. 27 (Canadian Press Cable).—Wild scenes of disorder occurred in the borough of Poplar last night when extremists among the unemployed invaded the place where the board of guardians were in session discussing the question of relief, and, headed by harangued Chairman Lansbury. Then the interlopers left the room and barricaded the doors.

The besieged guardians telephoned for the police. The latter arrived in post haste, and with drawn batons they cleared the passage leading to the board's meeting place, and forced the doors open. The police used their batons to such effect that twenty of the disturbers had to be taken to hospitals for treatment. However, their injuries were only of a minor character.

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—A band of about forty men, some of them masked and armed, bound and gagged the guards at the warehouse of the Philadelphia Distilling Company at Edgington, near here to-day and escaped with from seven to ten truckloads of whisky.

POPULAR NANAIMO COUPLE MARRIED

Miss Annie Nicholson Weds B. J. Hackwood; Miss Emma Wilson Honored

Nanaimo, B.C., Sept. 25.—A very pretty wedding took place at the Baptist Church, Tuesday, when Miss Annie Elizabeth Nicholson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nicholson, Townsite, became the bride of Mr. Bevis James Hackwood, of this city. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of Autumn flowers and vines. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was dressed in a gown of brown Canton silk, with crown velvet hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Emma, while the bridegroom was supported by his brother, Percy Hackwood. The ceremony, which took place under an arch of twining ivy and flowers, was performed by the Rev. A. W. Mayne. During the signing of the register the organist rendered several selections.

Miss Emma Wilson, Irwin Street, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Wilson, who leaves this City shortly for a training college in Winnipeg, was honored with a farewell party at the home of Mrs. Edward Ball, Irwin Street, the rooms being beautifully decorated with sweet peas, asters, chrysanthemums and asparagus fern. During the evening's entertainment, Mr. Clifford Pearson, on

RUSH TO SUBSCRIBE TO NEW GOVT. LOAN

Applications For $56,000,000 Were Received From Investors in First 36 Hours

The volume of applications received for the new Dominion of Canada refunding loan in the days preceding the public offering furnishes striking example of public desire to participate again in the premier security—that Canada can offer—a bond with the entire resources of the Dominion behind it, and carrying a much higher rate of interest than United States citizens, for example, can secure in corresponding investments in their own bonds. Within thirty-six hours of the time the Minister of Finance first announced the issue the selling syndicate had received orders for $56,000,000. The objective of the present loan is $172,000,000, and from the number of applications it looks as if this first big peace-time loan would go "over the top" in the same sweeping manner that was in evidence during the Victory loan campaigns.

Where to Purchase

It is just as easy to buy one of the new bonds as it was to secure one of the old Victory bonds. A list of authorized dealers, throughout Canada and every branch of every bank will receive subscriptions from the public and will also receive the maturing Victory 1923 issue for conversion purposes, in the latter case making the necessary cash adjustment with their clients.

PARLIAMENT MUST HAVE LAST WORD

New Zealand Not Bound by Imperial Conference Decisions

Wellington, N.Z., Sept. 27.—After a long debate on the policy of the government as it might be recorded in the decisions of the Imperial Conference, Labor in Parliament won a victory by inducing Mr. Massey to accept its point of view, although Parliament rejected its resolution to the same effect. It demanded that no decision of the Imperial Conference should be binding on New Zealand until Parliament ratified it. Mr. Massey, closing the debate, moved a resolution to this effect and found not only the Liberals but the Laborites supported it. It was carried unanimously by the House of Representatives. Mr. Massey said that he had every objection to going to London hampered by instructions as to what he was to vote for and how he was to give his voice as Premier; he had none whatever to Parliament reviewing everything he had done and approving or disapproving of it. The House applauded this declaration.

LET DOWN

After effecting an entrance into the bank, the burglar found his way to the strong room. When the light from his lantern fell on the door he saw the sign.

"Save your dynamite. The safe is not locked. Turn the knob and open."

For a moment he ruminated. "Anyhow, there's no harm in trying it, if it really is open." He grasped the knob and turned it.

Instantly the office was flooded with light, an alarm bell rang loudly, an electric shock rendered him helpless, while a panel in the wall opened and out rushed a bullet which struck him.

An hour later, when the cell door closed on him, he sighed: "I know what's wrong with me. I'm too trusting. I have too much faith in human nature."

behalf of the assembled guests, presented Miss Wilson with a burnished bronze boudoir clock and a bouquet of asters, and was, in return, thanked by the recipient very charmingly. The evening was spent in games, cards and dancing. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Hindmarch, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Miss Mabel Murray and Mrs. E. A. Ball.

PARENT-TEACHERS OF SIDNEY PLANNING WINTER SOCIALS

Special to The Times
Sidney, Sept. 27.—A general parishioners' meeting took place in St. Andrew's Church, Sidney, after the Sunday evening service for the purpose of electing a churchwarden in place of Mr. Parkes, who has gone to live in Port Angeles. Victor Goddard was elected until the end of the year.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association after the Summer holidays took place on Tuesday evening in the schoolroom to elect officers for the ensuing year, but, owing to the small attendance, this was postponed until next month. The president, Mrs. Gilman, was in the chair. The secretary-treasurer, Miss Christie, read the minutes of the last meeting and the financial report, which were adopted. It was decided to hold in future two meetings a month—the third Tuesday in the month at 8 o'clock in the evening, and the first Thursday in the month at 3.45 in the afternoon. It was thought this would enable the parents to get together for a social time.

security, which, nevertheless, has the entire resources of the Dominion of Canada at its back. The United States bonds are yielding only an average of 4½ per cent., and those of Great Britain only 4½ per cent. Holders of the 1923 Victory loan which matures on November 1, have an even better offer made to them by the Government for, they get a bonus of half a month's interest, as when they turn their old bonds in, they retain the final coupon to cash in when due, while their new bonds begin to bear interest from October 15. This concession means that the cost of the new five-year bond is reduced to 58.77, which gives it a yield of 5.28 per cent., while the twenty-year bond price is reduced to 58.02, at which it yields 5.16 per cent. In addition they receive a dollar in cash for each Victory bond converted into a new five-year bond, and $1.75 for each conversion into the long-term bond.

After effecting an entrance into the bank, the burglar found his way to the strong room. When the light from his lantern fell on the door he saw the sign.

"Save your dynamite. The safe is not locked. Turn the knob and open."

For a moment he ruminated. "Anyhow, there's no harm in trying it, if it really is open." He grasped the knob and turned it.

Instantly the office was flooded with light, an alarm bell rang loudly, an electric shock rendered him helpless, while a panel in the wall opened and out rushed a bullet which

Smart Cloth Frocks Reasonably Priced

The Cloth Frock is the Smart Street Frock this season and since it is frequently worn without a coat, it necessarily feels it must perform a coat-like duty. Hence the straight-line silhouette, frequently flared and tiered. Those here of twill, rep and soft pile fabrics are especially smart. We cordially invite you to come in and view the smartest of adaptations in Cloth Frocks here.

THE CANADIAN WOMEN'S PRESS CLUB

Victoria has been privileged to play the role of host to a large variety of conventions during the present year. Quite a number of these gatherings have been attended by men and women prominent in the public life of the country and intimately associated with movements for its progress and welfare. On one or two occasions the meetings have been international in character and have furnished opportunities to further the cause of friendliness and peaceful dealing between this country and its neighbor to the South. And now comparatively late in the convention "season" comes the Canadian Women's Press Club.

This highly important organization, counting among its members many of the brightest minds in Canadian journalism, arrived in Victoria this afternoon. Its delegates come from every part of the country between Victoria and St. John and represent practically every department of the press of Canada. Among them also are a number of prominent women whose claim to special distinction rests upon their achievements in the wider literary realm. The party is under the personal direction of our old friend Col. Geo. Ham, the veteran publicity expert of the C.P.R.

Since the delegates are here for pleasure and not for business we rejoice over the fact that Victoria's Summer still lingers and dispenses warm September sunshine. We shall hope that such pleasant conditions will add to the enjoyment of the visitors whom the city is especially pleased to welcome.

WHY?

We are assured by The Vancouver Province that there is no occasion for anxiety over the report that a quantity of Canadian wheat may be exported this season through Seattle or Tacoma if Vancouver should not be able to handle the business offered. In fact our contemporary points out that more than half of the Canadian wheat goes eastward to sea through United States ports.

This is all very true; but when The Province does not see why Canadian grain should not go to sea through a United States port on the Pacific—while Vancouver is short on capacity—it, in common with its morning contemporary, appears to ignore the fact that harbor development at Victoria and Prince Rupert should concern both Vancouver and the country as a whole more intimately than the suggestion of creating business for ports across the line.

Because a large share of Canadian grain must go eastward to sea through American ports, a condition imposed by climatic laws and transportation expediency, we fail to see how anybody will seriously argue that the West—with its main appeal resting upon its open-all-the-year-round-ports—should be asked to submit to an artificial handicap. Surely the grain movement is not going to provoke parochialism.

BEGINNING TO COME TRUE

Only a short time ago Sir Henry Thornton made the prediction that if everything went as he expected it to go the annual deficit on the operation of the Canadian National Railways would be completely eliminated and the system begin to pay its way.

There were those who almost claimed that the President of the line was talking through his hat and others who were quite candid in their expressions of doubt that anything like such a satisfactory state of affairs would be realized in so short a time. In spite of the sceptics, however, the latest public statement from the offices of the system indicate pretty conclusively that Sir Henry was neither talking without his book nor basing his prediction upon flimsy material. As a matter of fact the operating returns for the month of August show that gross earnings have increased $1,566,123 over the corresponding month of last year. And after deducting operating expenses for the same period there is left a net operating revenue amounting to $2,027,000 as compared with the net operating revenue of $1,036,894 for the month of July last. The net result for August is a gain of $555,157 over the preceding month and no less than 95.5 per cent. in excess of the net return given for August of 1922. The report also assembles the monthly business and embraces the complete results for the first eight months of the present year. These reveal a net earning total of $5,011,845 as compared with a deficit for the corresponding period in 1922 of $1,166,098.

These figures will come as a rude shock to those melancholy gentlemen in Eastern Canada who concocted the "whisper of death" a few months ago and cannot understand how it is that the country has not gone out of business and into the receiver's hands ere this.

THE LAST OF THEIR RACE

What Mr. J. P. Babcock has prophesied for many years has now come to pass. As a sockeye stream the Fraser River is no longer taken into account by canners on the other side of the line. This year's run to the spawning grounds at the headwaters of the great river has been conspicuous by its absence. The sockeye has almost disappeared.

It is no use weeping over spilled milk. The damage has been done and nothing will repair it until all the parties interested in the drawing of dividends from the industry make up their minds that they will restore the run by adopting the only effective course.

Meanwhile "pinks" and "springs" have taken the place of the aristocrat of the species. Public taste and demand will probably remain unaffected. But it is a thousand pities that the sockeye—once the proud boast of the Fraser and fetching three times the price of the inferior varieties—has not been adequately protected.

It simply means—and past records prove it—that there is a watershed capable of producing sockeye to the value of $30,000,000 a year, when properly seeded, lying idle for the want of proper action.

Note and Comment

Mr. Meighen must be having a most miserable time of it. His addresses are horribly mournful and they really qualify him for membership in the "whisper of death" society.

Disinterested observers in the city of Cairo declare that Egypt has never been more tranquil than she is at the present time. It is gratifying to learn that there is an atmosphere of peace and quietness somewhere on the other side of the Atlantic.

There is to be a roaming place for a herd of wild buffalo in British Columbia. We presume the noble animals will be instructed in the ways of civilized society and warned not to push their noses into things that don't concern them.

Mr. Lloyd George is reported to be "in training" for his Canadian tour. He walked five miles in an hour last Sunday. We really think he should come to Victoria, and he might give Premier Oliver a lesson in golf. There would be no fear of Briand's fate befalling the Government leader in consequence.

From Belfast last week there left for Canada a part of the Toomath family. There were thirteen in the "party" and the remainder of a household that numbers twenty-one members altogether is remaining in Ireland. We shall wager that the "commander" of this "platoon" will not sit down and weep if he doesn't get a directorship of the C.P.R. within a week of his arrival. The "reasons" he has brought with him will dictate his course.

Premier Baldwin's statement at Northampton to-day should calm those restive minds that erupt and figuratively shoot the Entente full of holes every time Downing Street and the Quai d'Orsay differ on points of foreign policy. The Prime Minister says in simple language that his conference with M. Poincaré last week had the effect of restoring the former good relations between the two countries. Restraint and virtual mistrust have been replaced by mutual confidence. One marvels how it could be otherwise after what the manhood of Britain and France suffered together for more than four years.

Some Thoughts for To-day

Fools may our scorn, not envy, raise.
For envy is a kind of praise.

Gay.

Heaven forbids, it is true, certain gratifications,
But there are ways and means of compounding
Such matters.

Molier.

Enthusiasm is grave, inward self-controlled;
Mere excitement outward, fantastic, hysterical,
and
Passing in a moment from tears to laughter.

John Sterling.

Enthusiasm is grave, inward, self-controlled;
Which hovers over the production of genius;
Throwing the reader of a book, or the spectator of a statue
Into the very ideal presence whence these works have

Really originated. A great work always leaves
Us in a state of musing.

Isaac Disraeli.

Our Contemporaries

P. R. IN IRELAND

Ottawa Citizen.—P. R. has made it impossible for candidates to be elected on a minority of votes or to gain victory by a "split" vote, just as it has made it possible for strong minorities to secure fair representation. In short, P. R. is on the voter's side, and the voters in this case are the real rulers of the country. P. R.'s share in Ireland's revival has been significant.

CANADIAN AGRICULTURE

Bellefleur Intelligence.—The figures indicate a healthful and flourishing condition and they emphasize the need of an increased agricultural population. A larger number of farmers will eventually stimulate intensive and diversified agriculture, thus increasing the production of supplementary crops and avoiding the great risks attending the "one crop" plan. Settlers can accomplish this and become wealthy in the accomplishment. Canada has the land, the opportunities and the need. Europe has the settlers. Introduction of these settlers into Canada is a great movement of mutual benefit which should be stimulated and encouraged on both sides of the Atlantic.

OLSON AT BANFF: TO HAVE TOURISTS ROUTED THIS WAY

Tourist Agents at Convention Plan Next Year's Tours

H. B. Barney Olson left last night for Banff to represent Victoria at the convention of tourist agents from all over Canada and the United States, and members of the Circle Tours Association. The convention will run until next Monday.

During this meeting the whole question of routing tourists by these agencies for the next year will be decided. Mr. Olson, as representative in this city, will make arrangements with the conference for Victoria to be included as an all-passenger centre on all lines for next year.

Directors of tourist traffic from all parts of the continent are attending the Banff convention. Their object is to get knowledge from experienced men who know the country and its attractions for visitors, and to complete arrangements for the most effective routing of tourists.

G. H. Southwick, of Seattle, R. Royce, of Portland, and F. Barnes are the representatives of those cities who left here yesterday with Mr. Olson to join President Crosby at Banff.

PRINCE IS HOST AT CATTLE MEN'S PICNIC

Entertains Party From Calgary on the E. P. Ranch

Calgary, Sept. 27.—Cowboy hats, lids that have rested on the back-sheaf since Calgary's Stampede, were the order of the day on Thursday morning when a party of Calgaryans left for the E. P. Ranch where Lord Renfrew will be host at the annual picnic of the Shorthorn Breeders' Association. A large party of local men, accompanied by a smaller delegation of ladies, made the trip.

The local delegation planned to reach the Prince's ranch about one o'clock. A feature of the afternoon will be the presentation to Pete Vandermer of the trophy emblematic of the riding championship of the Calgary Stampede.

This trophy is the gift of the Prince of Wales and he will officiate on the first occasion that it has been awarded.

The challenge trophy is held by the champion for one year. Each winner is presented with a silver cigarette case, engraved with the Prince's coat of arms.

NOTHING SERIOUS

The members of a football team were seated in a train on their way to an away match. Ten of them were reading, when suddenly the eleventh broke out into deep and blood-curdling groans.

The rest of the team glanced at him anxiously, and then one of their number forced a flask of brandy between his teeth.

"How do you feel?" he said.
"Fine," said the invalid.

"What was the matter, anyway?"
"Matter? Why, nothing."

"Then why were you groaning?" asked the owner of the brandy.

"Groaning? I wasn't groaning; I was singing!"

ONLY TWO ESKIMOS SENTENCED TO HANG

Error Crept Into Report Says Judge Back From Herschel Island

Edmonton, Sept. 27.—His Honor Judge Dubuc, who recently returned from Herschel Island, states that an error has crept into the report of the proceedings. While there were four convictions for murder, only two Eskimos were sentenced to hang, as one named Alcomick, was responsible for three deaths. He not only shot a fellow Eskimo, Pugana, but also Corporal Doak, of the R.N.W.M.P. and a trader named Binger. Tamaagana was sentenced to death as an accomplice in the murder of Pugana.

When a highbrow attains full development, he might as well die. There is nothing left that he can enjoy.

ELECTION OF MISS M. G. BONDFIELD JUSTIFIED

London, Sept. 27.—The election of a woman, Miss Margaret G. Bondfield, to the chairmanship of the Trades Union Council in Great Britain for the first time in the history of trades unionism, is attracting the attention and interest far beyond the ranks of Labor. Miss Bondfield commands wide respect in England for her practical ability. When in her teens, Miss Bondfield was apprenticed to a drygoods store in London and soon became identified with the movement for betterment of working conditions among shop clerks. She was made assistant secretary of the Shop Assistants' Union in 1898, and since then has held prominent posts. She has also played an important part in politics, twice attempting to enter Parliament. Miss Bondfield says that she regards her election as "a very signal proof of the legality of the claim made by Labor that it believes in equality of opportunity for women, and recognizes the capacity of women to share the burdens as well as the pleasures of office."

MARY ELLEN SMITH RECEIVES CORDIAL LONDON GREETING

Guest of Australian Native Association

Urges Broader Assistance to Bring Settlers to Canada

London, Sept. 26 (Canadian Press Cable).—Mary Ellen Smith, former member of the Government of British Columbia and at present member of the British Columbia legislature for Vancouver City, who is in this country at present on an immigration mission for the Canadian Government, was the guest today of the Australian Native Association, in Australia House here. She was given an enthusiastic reception.

Mrs. Smith, in an address, spoke of the possibilities and Canada's relation to the sister Dominion. She pointed out how they were linked by their common interests and said that the prosperity of one was the gratification of all.

Freedom League Guest

Mrs. Smith was the guest last night of the Women's Freedom League. She is paying a flying visit to London in the course of the lecture campaign she is carrying on throughout the country in connection with her immigration mission. She has been in large industrial centres and in rural districts in various sections of England.

Mrs. Smith to-day informed the Canadian Press correspondent that she had been greatly impressed with the interest shown everywhere in Canada. "It has been wonderful," she said. "I have found the keenest interest taken in the subject of immigration to the Dominion. There are large numbers of cases of men who cannot leave this country owing to lack of finances. They are of the right calibre and would make splendid citizens. They are not in the rural districts only, but in large centres of industry and would be suitable and desirable as settlers on the land."

Broader Assistance

"The basis for granting assistance must be broadened, then Canada will gain citizens and something will be done toward solving the problems of congestion and unemployment which are distressing this subject with the Canadian Government."

Mrs. Smith will visit Manchester to-morrow, where she will be receiving the lord mayor. This is a second visit she is making to that city in response to an earnest request to do so. She will next visit Leeds.

REPORT SHOWS DROP IN MISSIONARY FUND

Toronto, Sept. 27.—The statement of the general treasurer, Mrs. N. A. Powell, which was adopted yesterday at the forty-second annual meeting of the board of managers of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, showed an income of $440,968.92 during the year, a decrease of $11,250.77. Expenditures of $335,715 were shown for the work in Japan, China and Canada, and the expenses of administration. The income from all sources, including the reserve fund and annuity fund, was $457,707.

WHO WANTS A SPITZ?

A thoroughbred Spitz puppy is being offered as a tombola prize to-morrow evening in connection with the Billy Muir birthday dance which is being held at Semple's Hall under the management of the swimmers of the city. Mrs. Brown kindly gave the puppy to the committee in charge of the dance as a medium of increasing the receipts. They have decided to sell picture postcards, a tombola ticket being given with each, which will entitle the holder to a guess as to the correct number of peas in a bottle. The person guessing the correct number or the closest thereto will win the puppy.

The Esquimaux Parent Teacher Association will meet in Lampson Street School auditorium on Thursday, September 27, at 8 p.m. A full attendance is urged as officers and committees will be elected for the coming year. A musical programme has been arranged, after which Mr. Gerald Cross, of Victoria, will address the meeting.

was for seven years a member of the staff of The Evening Journal, Ottawa, but in 1902 when the Hon. Joseph Chamberlain requested Canada to send some teacher to the Boer concentration camps, Miss Randall, as she then was, offered her services, and was one of the forty chosen. After a year abroad, however, she returned to Canada and joined the staff of The Winnipeg Telegram, and later, that of The Manitoba Free Press. After her marriage Mrs. Livesay became a "free lance," and has contributed poems, stories and articles to the best periodicals of Canada and America. She has published a volume of Ruthenian folk-songs entitled "Songs of the Ukraine," and another volume under the title of "Shepherd's Pursue," is now in the press. "The Bookman" says of her work, "She writes with a lyric gift. Her verses have the singing quality and the true feeling."

Short Story Writer

Miss Katherine Hale, the gifted wife of John W. Garvin, B.A., of Toronto, is not only a prominent woman journalist, but also a well-known critic and short story writer, and a poet of discrimination. An early ambition to train for the operatic stage and a consequent devotion to music developed her lyrical powers, and her poems are musical and full of imagination. "Grey Knitting," a first slight volume of verse, published in November, 1914, met with instant success, and ran into four editions of a thousand copies each before it had been on the market six weeks. Several of her poems have been set to music. "Dear Little Mine," set by Gena Branscombe, being an exquisitely tender little song. She has written some charming legends of Quebec, which will be issued in "publicity" brochure.

Novel Can Wait

Jean Blewett has interrupted a novel she is writing to attend the conference. Born in Ontario of Scotch parents, and married at the early age of sixteen to Bassett Blewett, a native of Cornwall, England, she loves to write of the simple things of every day. One of her poems, "Spring," was awarded the prize of $600, offered for the best poem on this subject by The Chicago Times-Herald. She has for many years been a special writer for The Toronto Globe, contributing the "Cornflower and Other Poems," is her best known volume of verse. She comes of literary stock, though her mother she is related to Duncan Ban MacIntyre, the famous Gaelic poet, her brother, Archibald McKinnis, is a well-known contributor to the Canadian press, and a younger sister is

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hobbs, of Toronto, were guests of Mr. E. W. Beatty on his visit to the city yesterday and left with the party last evening for the Princess Louise for Seattle.

Mr. F. W. Blankenbach, Verrinder Avenue, returned yesterday from a few weeks holiday spent in Winnipeg. Mrs. Blankenbach, who has been also visiting in Winnipeg, will remain a few weeks longer.

Mrs. Harold Eberis, who has been spending the Summer with her parents, Captain and Mrs. J. W. Troup, is leaving to-morrow night for home in Montreal. Miss Innes Bodwell, who is leaving to spend the Winter in London with her mother, Mrs. Cator, will accompany Mrs. Eberis on the journey across Canada.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the manse, Burleigh Drive, when the Rev. J. Smith Patterson united Miss Mary E. McArthur, of Calgary, and Robert S. Innes in the bonds of holy matrimony. The bride wore a navy blue traveling suit with hat to match and a corsage of bridal roses. The happy couple will spend their honeymoon touring to the south of California and will make their home in Los Angeles.

winning success as a journalist in Detroit, Michigan.

Educationalist

Mrs. Florence Nightingale Sherker, educationalist and writer, came through from Fort William, where as Gay Page, she is a member of the editorial staff of The Times-Journal. She is also the official keeper of "Who's Who Among Canada's Women," and is the author of several books of prose and poetry. Her most widely known writings are "The Workhouse," "To the Pied Piper," and "Mother England." As she is one of its most valued members, but pressure of work this year has caused her to resign her position to the general regret.

Mrs. Miriam Green Ellis, editor of the agricultural page of The Edmonton Bulletin, before coming West had just completed a 1,400-mile trip through the farming districts to get an estimate of the year's crops. She is an expert in her line, and gave an authoritative and optimistic address before the Vancouver Board of Trade while in that city.

Mrs. Charles E. Whitton, M.A., is not only a journalist of note, but is also a social service expert, compiling these two branches of her activity, editing the Social Welfare magazine. She is also private secretary to Hon. Thomas Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Federal Cabinet.

The large women's residence to be built in connection with Queen's University owes its inspiration to her untiring efforts. Miss May Clendennan, of Winnipeg, is on the staff of The Grain Growers' Guide, the official organ of the farmers' organization in Manitoba, and her sister, Miss Mary Clendennan, was for some time on the staff of The Free Press, being also for over a year connected with The Vancouver Sun.

Mrs. Charlotte Gordon, of Calgary, a successful "free lance" is at present engaged on a book, the action of which is staged in the Okanagan Valley.

Dinner At Empress

The delegates will be entertained to-night at 7 o'clock, at a dinner at the Empress Hotel. Mrs. H. P. Hodgson, president of the Club in Victoria, will occupy the chair, and the speakers will be Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, Mayor Hayward, and B. C. Nicholas, managing editor of The Victoria Daily Times.

Miss Eva Hart and Mr. J. Q. Gillan will sing.

PEN MIGHTIER THAN SWORD, WOMEN PROVE

(By a Times Staff Representative)

The truth of that time-worn adage, "The pen is mightier than the sword," seldom came home with more force to women than at the triennial convention of the Canadian Women's Press Club, which closed its sessions in Vancouver yesterday.

In this gathering of representative women were editorial writers and reporters of every important newspaper between St. John and Victoria; authors of books which boast readers not only in Canada but all over the English-speaking world; magazine writers whose articles cover every conceivable field from the domestic to the technical; illustrators whose black and white drawings grace commercial and literary productions.

Few gatherings of women in Canada represent a greater force than this organization of nearly four hundred members, of whom it might well be said, "by their works ye shall know them," for many are personally unknown to the general public, their identities often concealed beneath a pen-name or in the misty fastnesses of that cosmic entity known merely as "The Press."

One of the outstanding features of the convention was the absence of resolutions.

The one or two which passed this critical forum of presawomen were eminently practical in that they were capable of translation into immediate action and a united effort for the raising of the status of the profession.

Buyers and sellers of news—and both were represented at the conference—exchanged viewpoints destined to react to the benefit of the reading public. Their deliberations will doubtless bear fruit whose flavor will redound to the best interests of Canada.

Miss Kennetha Haig, of Winnipeg, editorial writer of The Manitoba Free Press, was yesterday afternoon elected national president of the Canadian Women's Press Club for the next three years. The election was by acclamation.

Other officers were elected as follows: Honorary president, Miss Lucy Doyle, Toronto; corresponding secretary, Miss May Clendennan, Winnipeg; treasurer, Miss Louise Macdonald, Winnipeg; historian, Mrs. Butcher, Toronto; Vice-president, British Columbia, Mrs. Isabel Eccleson MacKay, Alberta; Elizabeth Bailey Price, Manitoba; Miss Nan Moulton, Ontario; Miss M. Houston, Quebec; Mrs. Bennett, New Brunswick; Mrs. Lawrence, Nova Scotia; Miss Marshall Saunders.

When oil insists on coming through the powder

This is the method that women use who must keep their skin fresh

You powder with such infinite care and yet a few minutes after you know your nose is shining! Sometimes your whole face has a horrid pasty look.

What do the women do who must keep their faces fresh and charming?—actresses who can never let their faces look anything but exquisitely lovely?

They have had to find a method that would properly remove the excess oil and make-up, that would restore the natural freshness of their skin. This necessity led them to depend on the Pond's Method, two entirely different creams based on the two great essentials for keeping the skin fresh and clear. The kind of cleansing that restores the skin's natural transparency. The kind of protection that not only protects but freshens instantly and holds the powder for hours.

Do this tonight. With a piece of moistened cotton or with the finger tips apply Pond's Cold Cream freely. Its very fine oil softens the skin so that it can penetrate every pore, and takes out dirt and excess fat together. It is so light it wipes entirely off, leaving your skin fresh and dry—never heavy with cream. Do this twice.

Then, before you powder. Smooth on Pond's Vanishing Cream very evenly—just enough for your skin to absorb. It has no oil. Now if you wish, rouge—powder. How charming your face is in the mirror—exquisitely fresh. It will stay that way all day.

Florence Nash of "Merton of the Movies" fame says:

"I like Pond's Cold Cream because it leaves my face feeling so refreshed—not heavy and oily. And Pond's Vanishing Cream really keeps my skin wonderfully smooth and fresh all day. It keeps the powder on beautifully."

Give your skin the same perfect care, and you will understand how the women who give their skin the hardest wear are able to have the loveliest complexions. Buy both creams in jars or tubes in any drug or departmental store. The Pond's Extract Company, 146 Brock Avenue, Toronto, Canada.

CLEVER PUPILS IN ENJOYABLE RECITAL

Excellent Concert Staged at Empress Hotel Last Night

The vocal recital given last evening at the Empress Hotel Ballroom may be described as signaling the opening of the Winter music season. The programme, generously arranged by one of the capital city's foremost teachers, Miss Kate Hemming, consisted of numbers contributed by her pupils, assisted by Miss Marjorie Broley, George Guy, and Arthur Gore, and was in aid of the Young Women's Christian Association. The proceedings opened with the part song "The Harebell" (M. le Sage), sung by the Misses Slatford and Steine, and Mrs. J. C. Shaw. In this there was some delightful and effective singing, and indeed, throughout the evening there were excellent examples of careful instruction, good style, naturalness, praiseworthy enunciation, and production evinced by each and every one. Particularly well sung, and much appreciated were the numbers by Miss Iris Slatford, soprano; Mrs. J. Chiver, Shaw, contralto, and Miss Peggy Steine, soprano, the last singing quite prettily in French, the aria

"Connais-tu" from Goring Thomas' "Mignon." Both Mrs. Shaw and Miss Slatford sang admirably and with keen intelligence in "O My Heart is Weary," from "Nadeshda" (Goring Thomas), the Scottish folk-song "My Ain Wee Hoose," by Mrs. Shaw, and "I. Bacio" (Arditi), and "Elegia" (Massenet) by Miss Slatford. These three last mentioned and talented singers were obliged to give additional numbers so pleased were their hearers. Miss Annie Miller, soprano; Master Douglas Hodgson, and Miss Louise Buckley, who has an unusually pure soprano voice, also acquitted themselves with capital results. Mrs. H. Charlesworth was unable to be present through indisposition, her place being taken by Miss Slatford. Both George Guy, tenor, and Arthur Gore, baritone, are already quite well and most favorably known to Victoria concert goers, and whenever they appear they always give of their best. Mr. Guy sang as usual delightfully, rendering "Farewell" (S. Liddle), most tastefully and artistically, whilst Mr. Gore's voice of beautiful baritone quality was heard with admirable effects in his numbers "Thou Art Risen, My Beloved" (Coleridge-Taylor), and (a) "The Rose," (b) "The River and the Sea" (Noel Johnson). Both singers were compelled to give augmentations meeting with generous applause.

Miss Broley is an excellent pianist. Equipped technically and temperamentally she made a most favorable impression, and evinced much skill and understanding in (a) "To the Sea" (Macdowell), (b) "Prelude" (Mokri), and in Liszt's "Sixth Rhapsody." She, too, had to give extra numbers.

The accompaniments were in the hands of three talented and able pianists, Mrs. J. O. Cameron, Mrs. P. L. James, and Miss Edna Ulin, who at all times never failed in giving adequate support to the soloists. There was a goodly number of people present.

V. EDMUNDS, NATIVE TENOR, CLIMBING LADDER OF FAME

The return of Victor Edmunds to the Capitol this week cannot but be more than an unusual "attraction." Born in the Capital City and formerly and familiarly known as "Teddy" Fetch, this popular tenor is climbing to the highest niches in the realm of his choice, and to-day is acclaimed one of Canada's foremost singers. Those of his fellow citizens who are watching his progress in vocal art will be pleased to hear of the opinions given by two famous singers and teachers from Southern Italy, Signor Inzovello, who recently heard Victor Edmunds singing at a studio, unknown to the vocalist, pronounced him "one of the future tenors," and that in many years he has not heard such a real tenor voice. In conversation with a Times representative recently, Mr. Edmunds said "He was more than satisfied with and fully appreciated the critical and sincere reception at the hands of the many friends of the city of his birth and he hoped as time goes along he would bring both fame and credit to himself and to his city. Before leaving for California in the near future, where some engagements have already been planned by his maestro, Signor Morando, Victor Edmunds will conclude a two-weeks' engagement here, and at the beginning of October will give, in conjunction with Harold Davies, the organist, a recital in Christ Church Cathedral. At the request of the management of the Capitol—perhaps it is not generally known that singers do not at all times have the selection of songs at their disposal—Victor Edmunds is singing during the week two familiar songs, the delightfully fine song, "Thou" (Stephen Adams), and "If Winer Comes" (Tennent) both selected, to be in keeping with the picture, being skillfully and adequately accompanied by the pianist and sub-organist of the Dominion, Miss Irvine.

OBSERVE DON'TS FOR MATRIMONIAL BLISS

New York, Sept. 27.—Thomas J. McCabe, Deputy City Clerk in charge of the Marriage Bureau in The Bronx, is a happily married man. Furthermore, he is a willing philosopher and friend to every young couple contemplating entering the holy state through the legal processes of his peculiar office.

The genial McCabe has prepared a tentative list of "don'ts" for prospective matrimonial adventures. He ceases as if I were a fine horse he might purchase if he wished.

The King laughed at his son for this foolish idea and told him that those of royal birth did not look at it in that way. "You will see," he said, "all the Princesses will be here and each will be hoping she will be the chosen bride."

"But they have never seen me," replied Prince Damor. "They may not wish to become my wife and I many not find one among them I shall care to marry. I want to love the one I shall have to live with the rest of my life."

But the King only smiled at what he thought was a boyish notion and told his son that a Prince must marry a Princess and no one else.

The Prince did not feel very gay the night of the grand ball, for though he wanted to respect his father's wishes he did not wish to be forced into choosing a wife he did not know, let alone love.

After the grand march was finished, in which all the Princesses passed before the throne where sat the King and the Queen with their son beside them, the King said, "You have seen them all. Now make your choice."

"Is every Princess here, father? You know you said they all would come," inquired Prince Damor.

"Yes, all those who are worthy of becoming your wife," answered the King. "There is one Princess who is not present, but she is the daughter of a penniless King and no doubt had nothing fit to wear to such a grand ball."

"But, father, you said I was to make my choice," said Prince Damor.

"Princesses far and near, and until I see this Princess, even if she is poor, I cannot make my choice," said the Prince.

plans to have them printed on neat little cards with an embossed wreath of orange blossoms or some such design.

But he is withholding his order for a few days pending possible suggestions of additional "don'ts" from persons of even wider and more comprehensive experience. He would like to receive one or two—perhaps more—from some persons who so happily married as he—who are sorry for it. He might, if the suggestion commend itself to him, even accept a suggestion or two from some of the persons for whom the marriage business didn't take at all. But here are the rules that Mr. McCabe already has approved:

"Don't let wife or husband rule the roost. Don't try to do it yourself."

"Don't nag."

"Don't forget to show affection."

"Don't neglect to trust each other."

"Don't permit relatives to interfere."

"Don't blame the other for all the trouble."

"Don't forget to keep an interest in your family affairs."

"Don't imagine that one person only makes the home attractive."

"Don't forget you're married."

TWO SISTERS MARRY SAME POLICEMAN

Thirty Years After Dramatic Meeting Discloses Fact

Special to The Times
 Melbourne, Australia, Sept. 27.—In a divorce case here in which Mrs. Lucy Lawson sued her husband, a policeman, for desertion it was disclosed that 30 years after she had lost knowledge of him or his whereabouts he "married" her sister with whom he had five children. Mrs. Lawson got a decree against her husband. She told how, after 30 years, being invited by her sister to visit her in Sydney she went there and was introduced, to her amazement, to her sister's husband, whom she instantly recognized as her own. "Why, that's my husband," she declared in amazement. "Well," said the sister, "You can have him if you want him; I have had enough of him."

PRINCE DAMOR'S CHOICE

Part I.

It was time for Prince Damor to choose a wife. His father, the King, told him one day that he had sent forth a command for all the princesses far and near to come to a grand ball to be given in the ball room of the castle.

"Then you will have a chance to see all the beautiful ladies who are fitted because of their royal birth to become your bride," his father told the Prince.

"And do all the Princesses know that I am to choose from among their number a wife?" inquired the Prince.

"Of course they do, and you will see that every Princess in the land will be here, for who would not wish to become the bride of a Prince whose name will inherit his vast kingdom?" his father replied.

"If I were a Princess I would refuse the invitation," said Prince Damor. "I should wish the man I was to marry to seek me and not parade myself before him with other Princesses as if I were a fine horse he might purchase if he wished.

The King laughed at his son for this foolish idea and told him that those of royal birth did not look at it in that way. "You will see," he said, "all the Princesses will be here and each will be hoping she will be the chosen bride."

"But they have never seen me," replied Prince Damor. "They may not wish to become my wife and I many not find one among them I shall care to marry. I want to love the one I shall have to live with the rest of my life."

But the King only smiled at what he thought was a boyish notion and told his son that a Prince must marry a Princess and no one else.

The Prince did not feel very gay the night of the grand ball, for though he wanted to respect his father's wishes he did not wish to be forced into choosing a wife he did not know, let alone love.

After the grand march was finished, in which all the Princesses passed before the throne where sat the King and the Queen with their son beside them, the King said, "You have seen them all. Now make your choice."

"Is every Princess here, father? You know you said they all would come," inquired Prince Damor.

"Yes, all those who are worthy of becoming your wife," answered the King. "There is one Princess who is not present, but she is the daughter of a penniless King and no doubt had nothing fit to wear to such a grand ball."

"But, father, you said I was to make my choice," said Prince Damor.

"Princesses far and near, and until I see this Princess, even if she is poor, I cannot make my choice," said the Prince.

Though the King was quite upset, he remained true to his word and said the ball should go on for another night and Princess Teresa, which was the name of the penniless Princess, should be sent for. The royal coach should start at daybreak to fetch her.

SEPTEMBER LUMBER FIGURES SURPASS ALL OTHER MONTHS

CONCESSIONS OF NATURE RAISE BOTTOM OF OCEAN

New Auto Ferries Increase Tourist Figure by 2,416

TERMINAL DETAILS HAVE BEEN HELD UP

Several Boats Will Come Here to Load; 7,178,000 Feet of Lumber to Be Exported During Next Few Weeks; Boats to Arrive Are Henry S. Grove, Curvus, Desemer City, Margaret Coughlan and Sinaloa

Lumber export shipments this month from Victoria mills will surpass all previous months of the year. Last month the shipments amounted to 8,000,000 feet, but September figures will pass the August quota and are expected to exceed 10,000,000 feet.

Although many of the lumber shipments are going out in October, most of the orders were placed in September, and the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company reports the busiest month for some time.

Altogether there is 7,178,000 feet of lumber to be delivered yet, while shipments already forwarded during this month from local mills sends the total far above 10,000,000 feet.

Canadian Puget Sound
The Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company report their busiest month of the year. They will have shipped out by the end of this month a total of 4,500,000 feet of lumber. Orders placed during the month of September are as follows: 375,000 feet on the steamer Skagway, which is at present loading in the Inner Harbor, 1,000,000 feet on the steamer Henry S. Grove, which is due here on October 10 and will load for New York; 250,000 feet on the Margaret Coughlan, which will dock here Monday to load for Nova Scotia, and 1,000,000 feet on the Desemer City, due about October 7.

Cameron Lumber Company
The Cameron Lumber Company, in addition to loading lumber on the already mentioned ships, have a number of new vessels booked for loading here, which in all probability, the other mills will help load. The Cameron Lumber Company reports shipments to the total of 1,650,000 feet. This does not include the lumber that has already been shipped and which figures go into the millions. They report that 200,000 feet of lumber will go out on the Skagway from their yards; 200,000 feet on the Margaret Coughlan; 500,000 feet on the Desemer City; 600,000 feet on the Sinaloa. These boats are both due next week and will load in the harbor.

Lemon & Gonnason
Lemon & Gonnason mills have no orders to fill for the remainder of this month, but report that they have shipped out 38,000 feet on the various vessels that have come here for loading.

Moore & Whittington
Moore & Whittington have had a good month, figures issued showing that they will have exported 540,000 feet of lumber by the end of September. The Hanna Nelson, which left last night, took out 155,000 feet of lumber from this yard, while future orders to be filled will total 200,000 feet.

Roxen to Load For Australia

Seattle, Sept. 27.—The Swedish steamship Roxen, due next week, is expected to load the largest cargo taken on Puget Sound in many months. In the cargo load here by the Roxen, which is due on Gray's Harbor to-day, will be 10,000 cases of canned salmon, the largest consignment of that kind ever shipped from Puget Sound this year. Two thousand measurement tons of box shooks and 800,000 feet of lumber are to be received by Tacoma and here. The goods are destined to Sydney, Melbourne and Adelaide.

Cableship Makes Remarkable Discovery Near St. Helena

London, Sept. 27 (Associated Press)—Discovery by a cable repair ship that the bed of the ocean in the vicinity of St. Helena has risen two miles during the last twenty years has led to a belief among scientists that the whole southern Atlantic ocean bed is undergoing a vast submarine convulsion.

Some authorities have even made the statement that such changes are going on continually, and that these disturbances may occur in any locality. They believe that this is the reason for the frequent sudden appearances of islands and shoals in the southern oceans. It is also claimed that when the ocean bed is raised in one place there is a corresponding drop in some other section of the world.

The discovery of this strange phenomena was made recently when it was reported by the Eastern Cable Company that their cable between St. Helena and Capetown was broken at a spot some 800 miles north of the Cape. The cable had been laid in 1859 and had been in constant use. On its arrival at the designated spot the cable repair ship reported to London that, instead of the depth of the water being 2,700 fathoms, or just over three statute miles, as stated on the chart, it was only a little more than three-quarters of a mile deep.

RAILROADS EXTEND FARE CONCESSIONS TO LEGIONNAIRES

Large Convention is Being Held at San Francisco in October
Indianapolis, Sept. 27.—The one fare rate for the round trip, authorized by all American railroads to veterans attending the national convention, is an inducement which is expected to take thousands of American Legion members to San Francisco, national headquarters here has announced. The convention opens October 15.

These rates, confined to members of the Legion, widows of deceased members and members of the American Legion Auxiliary, will go into effect at various dates from October 2, according to the distance of the states from San Francisco. Identification certificates have been issued within 11,000 Legion posts, which must be presented to the veterans' home station agent to obtain advantage of the fare.
"All Legionnaires must leave San Francisco in time to reach the original starting point by midnight of November 15," said the announcement. "The extended return limit, however, is sufficient to enable them to stop over at various points of interest on going and return trip, to make side-trips, or to take short ocean voyages, including trips to Hawaii. Within the territory west of and including Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis and New Orleans, tickets may be obtained which cover in both directions via the same route. East of these cities, the same route must be followed in both directions."
"Most Legionnaires will travel in special trains which have been chartered by the various state departments of the organization. Unusual decorations, banners, bands, quavets, bizarre costumes and other features will afford an interesting journey for the war veterans."

ACTION TAKEN

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—The United States district attorney in Los Angeles was asked by Lloyd's London agency here to-day to proceed against a band of armed intruders who are alleged to have taken possession of the wrecked steamer Cuba on the rocks near Point Arguilla, Mare.
The first shipment of California hogs ever to be made to Manchuria will be aboard the Shipping Board freighter West Sequana when she sails from here to-day. New Auto Ferries Increase Tourist Figure by 2,416

Traffic Between Bellingham and Anacortes Increased Considerably; Total Number of Cars Coming Here This Season Totaled 6,847; New Ferry Boat May Be Built By Puget Sound Navigation Company

Automobile figures for the past season indicate a season of prosperity next year. Figures this year show that 6,847 cars were brought over to Vancouver Island by the Bellingham, Anacortes, Port Angeles and Nanaimo ferries.

An increase is shown of 2,416 cars over last year's total, which was 4,431 automobiles. This increase is due largely to the development in the ferry service given by the C.P.R. and the Anacortes ferry, in addition to the ferry service given by the Puget Sound Navigation Company.

PRESIDENT GRANT DUE AT SUNDOWN

The Admiral-Oriental liner President Grant will make quarantine at sundown to-morrow night, it was announced late to-day by the local agency, which is in receipt of a wireless advice from the vessel. There are no refugees for Victoria.

CROWDED SHIPS PULL FROM CONSTANTINOPLE

Exodus of Greeks, Armenians and Russians Continues

Constantinople, Sept. 27.—The British postoffice, the last of such establishments maintained by the Allies, closed last night, and the Turks took over all mails. Preparations for the formal evacuation of the Allies have been completed, and the famous Turkish Iron division is soon to enter the city. The exodus of Greeks, Armenians and Russians continues, and all outward-bound ships are crowded.

THREATEN DEATH TO SALVAGE OPERATORS

Opposition Met From Party Aboard Wrecked Vessel

Los Angeles, Sept. 27.—Sixteen armed men, believed to be from Santa Barbara, have taken possession of the steamer Cuba, wrecked on San Miguel Island, thirty-five miles from that city, September 8, and have begun salvage operations, according to reports brought here by three Los Angeles men who paid a visit to the scene.
Those aboard the Cuba threatened to kill those who sought to board her, according to the latter.
It is reported the armed men have already taken blocks, radio sets and aerials, nautical instruments, mahogany doors and panels, glassware, galley gear, linen and parts of the cargo to the value of more than $100,000.

They are said to declare their right to this property under a statute of international admiralty law.
To Open Bids
San Francisco, Sept. 27.—Bids for the sale of the Pacific Mail steamer Cuba, wrecked on San Miguel Island, will be received here to-day at the local offices of Lloyd's, of London. The insurance firm contends it is still the legal owner of the steamer, despite the fact that she has been abandoned, and that any other persons are open to civil proceedings for starting salvaging operations on the vessel.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT IS RETIRING FROM SHIPPING BUSINESS

State Shipping Venture Wound up With Big Deficit

The Government of France is getting out of the shipping business, according to reports from Paris, and the war-built merchant marine is rapidly being sold to private owners. France was hastened in its effort to retire from ship operation by reason of the financial showing made, which reveals a deficit of 1,808,987,545 francs. Added to this amount is 211,477,000 francs for the estimated working capital needed to wind up operations, and 58,444,000 francs still due on shipbuilding, making a grand total deficit of over 2,000,000,000 francs.

While there were other contributing items, the big deficit came with the ships directly under the under-secretary for the Mercantile Marine. The sum of 990,000,000 francs was spent on getting these and the loss on their operation is estimated at over 500,000,000 francs. When they were ready for disposal, forty leading shipping companies of France formed a combine to take the vessels over at a price of 400 francs per ton. When they were purchased, or ordered, the price ranged anywhere between 1,000 and 2,000, but the Parliament decided that it was no good for the State to keep its ships and operate them at a loss.

THE FIGURES

Here are the figures for the various ferries as given out by figures compiled at the Customs and Publicity Bureau. The Bellingham ferry, operated by the Canadian Pacific Motor Princess, and also the City of Angeles and Mount Vernon, brought over 4,003 cars from May 8 to the present time. This is an increase of 27 cars over last year. Outward the ferries took 3,590 cars leaving 103 cars behind here.
The Seattle ferry doubled its figure of last year. The steamer Sol Duct plying between Seattle and Victoria brought over 800 cars from Port Angeles, where tourists came over the Washington State road. This large increase over last year will in all probability hasten the plans of the Puget Sound Navigation Company who are contemplating the building of a new steamer to be placed in the ferry business next year.

The Canadian Pacific steamers Charming and Princess Patricia brought over a total of 2,044 cars from Vancouver and Mainland Points during the months of June, July and August. This is also an increase, it was stated, over last year's quota.

THE NEW SHIP

The new ship that is proposed for the ferry service between Port Angeles and Victoria, but which will also go to Seattle too, it is thought, will be of the latest type passenger and ferry steamer and will accommodate a large number of cars and will stimulate the demand for transportation of cars from Port Angeles to Victoria which has been felt during the past season.
The Motor Princess, of the Canadian Pacific, will make her last trip in the Bellingham-Victoria service on September 26. Following this trip she will be brought around to the Inner Harbor and laid up for the Winter.

MORE SHIPS TO BE OPERATED ON CALIFORNIA RUN

Pacific Steamship Company Will Take H. F. Alexander Off For Overhaul

According to information received at the local office of the Pacific Steamship Company, the steamships Curacao and Admiral Sebree will be added to the Pacific Steamship Company's service to California following the withdrawal of the H. F. Alexander for general overhaul and reconditioning.

It is said that the Admiral Schley may also be placed on the route. In this case the Admiral Evans, which on arrival at Seattle on Tuesday will conclude service to Alaska for the season, will be placed on the Portland-California run.
It is not anticipated that the schedules of the Ruth Alexander, Dorothy Alexander, Admiral Dewey and Admiral Farragut, which are on the California route, will be changed. This means that the Sunday service from Victoria to California maintained by these steamships will still be continued despite the fact that the H. F. Alexander will be taken

More Than Merely Lubrication Seek This Also In Your Motor Oil—

Aristo is as near perfection purely as a lubricating film as science can produce today.

All the facilities, all the expert chemists, all the latest and acknowledged best equipment that the Union Oil Company can gather together are employed in the production of Aristo.

Great research laboratories at our plants are constantly testing all methods and all oils to be sure that none is better. Aristo forms a durable, fine film which penetrates to and lubricates all the motor's moving parts in any weather and at every motor heat.

But you should look for more than this in motor oils.

"Carbons" Are Important

All oils deposit some carbonaceous residue in use, as all refiners know.

But some deposit one kind, some another.

One is flinty—hard. It attaches to pistons, cylinders, spark plugs and valves. It has a tendency to cling. And it acts as an abrasive, causing wear.

It becomes incandescent and pre-ignites the gas.

It coats spark plugs, short-circuiting the spark.

Its frequent accumulation around valves impairs compression.

Four motor troubles, familiar to all motorists at one time or another, follow.

The Other Kind

The little residue—a half to a third as much—that comes from Aristo Motor Oil is of a different kind.

It is soft and fluffy. Its tendency is not to cling, so most of it blows out with the exhaust.

Being softer than the motor's metals it can't cause wear.

Motors travel thousands of miles farther without cleaning. Spark plugs practically never "foul."

Such oil used regularly means a more satisfactory, smoother-running, longer-lasting, less expensive car. This is most apparent after several thousand miles. For sale at all first-class garages and service stations.

Rugby Schedule Calls for First Games on Oct. 20

J.B.A.A. Will Meet Navy and Oak Bay Plays Garrison;
Look For Big Year

Arrangements have been completed by the Victoria Rugby Union to have the opening games on Saturday afternoon, October 20. The J.B.A.A. last year's champions, will be engaged with the Navy, while Oak Bay will have the Garrison as their guests.

The competition for the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the city rugby championship, will be exceptionally keen this year. Four of the best teams that have competed for many years will be in the action, and a large number of new faces will be seen in the line-up. It is expected that Victoria will be able to put the strongest McKeechle Cup team in the field this year. It has had for a long time and there is every chance that the trophy will come back to the Capital, after several years' absence.

Securing Grounds
Every effort is being made by the Union to secure suitable playing grounds. Permission has been obtained from the Oak Bay Council for the use of Oak Bay Park, while the Cranmore Road grounds will also be available. The city will put into shape a section of the oval inside the Willows race track and this will give the Union a third good field. The Canteen grounds at Esquimalt will be the home ground of the Navy and is in very good shape.

Owing to the fact that the fence around the Oak Bay Park has been removed, the Union is looking for some other closed grounds for the staging of the McKeechle Cup games. It is possible that the Royal Athletic Park will be secured. Bob McInnes was appointed by the Union to look into this matter and report at the meeting next week.

The Royal Athletic Park would be very central for the games and would undoubtedly draw bigger crowds.

Other Series

There will be no end of rugby fixtures this winter, for in addition to the Senior League, four teams will play in the Intermediate League and there will be a strong school circuit. The annual competition for the Cowichan trophy, which was inaugurated last year, will be renewed, as well as the knockout series for the intermediate championship of Vancouver Island. On top of all this there will be the classic games for the McKeechle Cup, which promises to be keener and more interesting than ever this year.

The Rugby Union is making extensive plans for a big season and the fans will be treated to plenty of action this winter.

The Schedule

The schedule in the Senior League will be as follows:
October 20—Navy vs. J.B.A.A. Oak Bay vs. Garrison.
October 27—J.B.A.A. vs. Oak Bay. Garrison vs. Navy.
November 3—Navy vs. Oak Bay. Garrison vs. J.B.A.A.
November 10—McKeechle Cup game, Victoria vs. Varsity, at Vancouver.
November 17—Local games in knockout competition for Cowichan trophy.
November 24—J.B.A.A. vs. Navy. Garrison vs. Oak Bay.
December 1—Oak Bay vs. J.B.A.A. Navy vs. Garrison.

DEFEAT A SURPRISE

Hunter, Favorite
For Golf Title,

WILLIE HUNTER

Hunter, former British amateur golf champion, was eliminated from the California state amateur tournament yesterday afternoon by Charles E. Foley, a product of San Francisco's public links. Foley defeated Hunter four up and three to play in the first round of match play, which was thirty-six holes over the Pebble Beach course.

Hunter's defeat was totally unexpected. He had been conceded one of the strongest contenders for the state title after his brilliant showing in the national amateur, where he eliminated Chick Evans and lost to Francis Ouimet by a narrow margin. In Tuesday night's pre-tournament speculation Hunter was considered a 350 to 1 favorite over his first opponent in match play.

Foley, a public links player, although he was champion of San Francisco three years ago.

The morning round indicated that the Southern California favorite was not at his best. Starting off with a brilliant string of birdies, he cracked at the end of the first nine. Foley four down at that point, apparently sensed his opponent's weakness and began playing flawless golf. He won in green after green, until, at the lunch hour Hunter's lead had been cut to a single hole.

The afternoon round found Hunter completely off his usual accuracy and snap and there was little precision in his mauling shots. In the entire second round Hunter won but one hole.

Mingling of Pros And Amateurs to Be Big Question

Annual Meeting of Canadian Amateur Union Opens in Vancouver To-morrow

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Reports of the past year's activities and the presentation of the annual statements will be the principal matters dealt with at the morning session of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union to-morrow morning. The sessions begin at 10 o'clock and will continue until Saturday night.

This morning a large delegation from the East was welcomed at the station by A. E. Tennant, B. C. Governor. In the party were Judge J. A. Jackson, of Lethbridge, president of the Union, who was armed cap-a-pie with golf paraphernalia; Norton H. Crowe, Toronto, secretary; W. E. Findlay, Montreal, first vice-president; C. A. Smith, Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Baseball Association, and delegates from every province in Canada, except Joe Leslie, of Edmonton, who will be in to-morrow.

New Westminster branch has prepared a resolution dealing with the mingling of professionals and amateurs. This is to the effect that a clause be inserted in the amateur code permitting athletes who play professional lacrosse in summer, for instance, being permitted to take part in football games during the winter.

This resolution was endorsed by the Royal Agricultural and Industrial Society last night, with a preferred request that the Dominion junior championships be held at Queen's Park next exhibition week.

Incidentally, all British Columbia delegates to the sessions will meet in special conference to-night in order to present a solid front to the convention on all issues, if possible.

It Will Be Interesting
"This promises to be one of the most important sessions in the history of the union," said Judge Jackson, with a smile, as he was asked about the application of the Dominion Football Association. The Dominion president would not make any forecast as to the way things will go, but he suggested that there might be stormy sessions.

Secretary Norton H. Crowe will commence his duties this afternoon getting everything in shape for the opening session in the morning. The sessions will be held at Queen's Park next exhibition week.

He declared that he was not acquainted with the reasons behind request of the D.F.A. but had attempted to interview President John Easton, who will be present.

"I understand that he has sent a lengthy document ahead and we will probably have that this evening."

Vancouver, Sept. 27.—Undoubtedly the biggest single issue before the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union heads here beginning Friday morning will be the proposal to place a place made for the different resolutions which are to come before the convention.

He declared that he was not acquainted with the reasons behind request of the D.F.A. but had attempted to interview President John Easton, who will be present.

Recruit Startles Major Leagues by Flashy Work During His First Year

George Grantham, playing his first year at second base for the Chicago Cubs, is making good in the major leagues. He has been picked up by another baseball player, not Bobby Wallace.

GEORGE GRANTHAM

By BILLY EVANS
A second Johnny Evers with a little more experience.

An Eddie Collins in the rough, who needs only a few years of big league experience to be a star.

These are just a few of the nice things that are being said about George Grantham, playing his first year at second base for the Chicago Cubs.

NOBODY'S LOVER

By RUBY M. AYRES.

"Any of you fellows like a turn?" he asked; but nobody volunteered. One by one they drifted off, contenting themselves by calling out coarse abuse from a safe distance.

Jake turned to the dog that had slunk against the wall, whining and showing his teeth in a desperate attempt at self-defense.

"Poor chap—poor chap! Come here."

The scared brown eyes looked up with pathetic suspicion; then, after a second's hesitation, the dog shuffled towards Jake on its stomach, uttering little cries of doubting hope, and wagging a stumpy tail.

Jake stroked the shaggy head, found his pocket-knife and cut away the string from the poor creature's neck, then, after a moment, turned to walk on.

But the dog followed so closely at Jake's heels that it was difficult for him to walk without kicking it.

He stopped and looked down at the poor creature in perplexity.

"I can't take you with me, old chap," he said.

The dog looked up and wagged its tail.

"Good boy; go home!" said Jake, and then stopped. What home had the poor devil got? None, he knew.

The stumpy tail ceased to wag, as if its owner understood that this was only going to be another of the forlorn hopes that came and went in the course of the day, and Jake walked on reluctantly.

After a moment he turned back again. The dog was following once more. Jake stood still, and the dog crept to his feet, brushing against him in a desperate attempt to enlist sympathy, and then—as a last resource—it raised one muddy, trembling foot and pawed at Jake's leg.

For a fraction of a second Jake hesitated. He glanced at his watch. Past seven now! Well, he would have to miss the dinner, that's all. He could explain; Spicer's wife was the kind of woman who would understand. He stooped and patted the dog, encouragingly.

"All right, old man—come along!" he said cheerily, and, turning, went back to his rooms.

The dog followed with limping eagerness. Too good to be true, this was he decided, and he kept looking up into the face of the man who had not kicked him nor chased him away, adoration in his scared brown eyes.

They reached the Brompton Road, with its stream of traffic, and Jake paused on the curb for an instant, looking doubtfully down at his companion.

"You're very dirty, old chap, you know," he said. "But—well, here goes!" And stooping, he picked the dog up under his arm and dived across the road with him.

A girl and a man were standing together a little distance off, waiting for a taxi, and the girl's eyes followed Jake with a queer expression of amusement and admiration.

At a moment she touched her companion's arm.

"Mr. Bailey, isn't that Captain Rattray?"

Baily turned, following the direction of her gaze.

"Jove! yes, so it is! What the dickens has he got hold of?"

"I think it's a dog," said Ursula.

"What a frightful mongrel!" said Baily disgustedly. "You know, I always thought Rattray was a bit of a kink. The absurd things that fellow does would amaze you. Do you know him well, Miss Lorrimer?"

"Oh, no," Ursula was still looking after Jake. He had reached the opposite path now and had set the dog on its feet. "It must be a stray, poor creature," she said compassionately. "Look how thin it is. I wonder what Captain Rattray is going to do with it."

"Take it home, I expect—he's like that," Baily explained, carelessly. "Jove! Look at the mess his coat is in." He grinned, as if Jake's plight pleased him. "I wonder—he broke off. 'Here's a cab. Come along, Miss Lorrimer.'"

Ursula was rather silent as they drove away. The little episode of the dog had upset her estimate of Jake's character.

"What are you thinking about?" Baily asked. He was piqued at her absent-mindedness.

He was rather surprised at her answer.

"I was thinking about that night at Mario's," she said slowly. "Do you remember? The night I met you there?"

"When we were burying Spicer's latchkey, you mean," said Baily laughing. "Yes. What about it?"

"Nothing particular. I don't know what made me get hold of it. I shall never forget how angry my uncle was with Captain Rattray."

"Angry with Rattray? What do you mean?"

"For that scene he made—taking too much to drink," Ursula explained haltingly.

Baily stared at her in amazement. "Rattray! Too much to drink? Why, he was ill, Miss Lorrimer. I believe he's often had attacks like that since he was knocked out in France. It left some heart trouble, you know—nothing serious, I think, but he can't stand excitement."

Ursula turned her head. "You mean—do you really mean that?" she asked unbelievably.

"I certainly do. Ask Spicer. He and Rattray are great pals. I don't particularly care for Rattray myself, but give the devil his due, and certainly he wasn't drunk that night."

He paused. "Was that why you refused to let me introduce him?" he asked with swift understanding.

"Oh, do let us talk about something interesting!" she said, pettishly. She was conscious of a little feeling of shame at a picture of Jake with the forlorn mongrel tucked under his arm, rose vividly before her eyes.

Perhaps she had misjudged him. Her heart softened a little towards him. Then she thought of Doris St. Clair. Nothing could excuse him over that, anyway. There was no dot at all at the end of the word. He tried to push Jake out of her thoughts, but during the evening she found herself thinking of him again. A man who could be kind to a stray dog was not all bad.

"What are you thinking about now, Miss Lorrimer?" Baily asked her, brushing against her in a desperate attempt to enlist sympathy, and then—as a last resource—it raised one muddy, trembling foot and pawed at Jake's leg.

The dog followed with limping eagerness. Too good to be true, this was he decided, and he kept looking up into the face of the man who had not kicked him nor chased him away, adoration in his scared brown eyes.

They reached the Brompton Road, with its stream of traffic, and Jake paused on the curb for an instant, looking doubtfully down at his companion.

"You're very dirty, old chap, you know," he said. "But—well, here goes!" And stooping, he picked the dog up under his arm and dived across the road with him.

A girl and a man were standing together a little distance off, waiting for a taxi, and the girl's eyes followed Jake with a queer expression of amusement and admiration.

At a moment she touched her companion's arm.

"Mr. Bailey, isn't that Captain Rattray?"

Baily turned, following the direction of her gaze.

"Jove! yes, so it is! What the dickens has he got hold of?"

"I think it's a dog," said Ursula.

"What a frightful mongrel!" said Baily disgustedly. "You know, I always thought Rattray was a bit of a kink. The absurd things that fellow does would amaze you. Do you know him well, Miss Lorrimer?"

"Oh, no," Ursula was still looking after Jake. He had reached the opposite path now and had set the dog on its feet. "It must be a stray, poor creature," she said compassionately. "Look how thin it is. I wonder what Captain Rattray is going to do with it."

"Take it home, I expect—he's like that," Baily explained, carelessly. "Jove! Look at the mess his coat is in." He grinned, as if Jake's plight pleased him. "I wonder—he broke off. 'Here's a cab. Come along, Miss Lorrimer.'"

Ursula was rather silent as they drove away. The little episode of the dog had upset her estimate of Jake's character.

"What are you thinking about?" Baily asked. He was piqued at her absent-mindedness.

He was rather surprised at her answer.

"I was thinking about that night at Mario's," she said slowly. "Do you remember? The night I met you there?"

"When we were burying Spicer's latchkey, you mean," said Baily laughing. "Yes. What about it?"

"Nothing particular. I don't know what made me get hold of it. I shall never forget how angry my uncle was with Captain Rattray."

"Angry with Rattray? What do you mean?"

"For that scene he made—taking too much to drink," Ursula explained haltingly.

Baily stared at her in amazement. "Rattray! Too much to drink? Why, he was ill, Miss Lorrimer. I believe he's often had attacks like that since he was knocked out in France. It left some heart trouble, you know—nothing serious, I think, but he can't stand excitement."

Ursula turned her head. "You mean—do you really mean that?" she asked unbelievably.

"I certainly do. Ask Spicer. He and Rattray are great pals. I don't particularly care for Rattray myself, but give the devil his due, and certainly he wasn't drunk that night."

ALONG THE PICTURESQUE WATERFRONT OF BARCELONA

QUEEN VICTORIA

SENOR ALBA
Minister Foreign Affairs

Dissatisfaction by the military factions of Spain over the conduct of Moroccan campaign finally burst the surface. A coup d'etat, starting in Barcelona, according to cabled reports, spread rapidly throughout the provinces of the country. Officers of the army appear to be behind the movement, which as yet has not assumed the ugly proportions of a revolution.

Catalonia, or the "Catalan provinces," have been referred to frequently as Spain's Ireland.

Its people have enjoyed independence in their time and never have admitted that they were Spanish. On racial grounds they have considerable justification for their claim. Their language differs from Castilian and in appearance and temperament the Catalans are very unlike the inhabitants of the rest of Spain.

In particular they are industrious and enterprising and between their bustling capital, Barcelona, one of the busiest manufacturing and commercial cities in Europe, and such sleepy centres as Madrid the contrast is as marked as between Chicago and any overgrown Podunk.

In what grows out of this, rather than because of any sentimental wish for a separate national life, is to be found the reason for the Catalan separatist movement. Being the great producing section of the country, Catalonia pays the bulk of the taxes—but Madrid spends them. In fact, in the Catalans' opinion, Madrid throws them away. They object to supporting the rest of Spain.

For this waste, as Catalonia sees it, the Spanish war in Morocco is mainly responsible. When the war lags, so does the separatist movement. When there's a fresh outburst of war activity, separatist activities revive.

In 1919 there was a tremendous revolt in Barcelona against continuation of the war. Premier Maura put it down with heavy slaughter, but discontent has simmered ever since. The spread of discontent from Barcelona first of all to Bilbao, though geographically in the nature of a jump completely across Spain, in reality was quite natural, Bilbao being the centre of the national fuel industry, just as Barcelona is the industrial centre of the country. Bilbao, like Barcelona, has long been the scene of much labor restlessness.

HALL BEDROOM "WHITE HOUSE"—Grace Li, daughter of Li Yuan Hung, President of the Republic of China, slipped from the "White House of China" over to Wellesley College the other day, rented a hall bedroom in a boarding house on a side street and enrolled for a two-year course in political economy. She's just twenty-one.

ESCAPED WITH THEIR LIVES.—Members of the McCleary family, two of whom have returned to Canada after having had their home destroyed in the recent Japanese catastrophe for the second time, it having fared a similar fate seven years ago. Left to right, top row, Richard McCleary, who is remaining in the Orient; Miss Lucella McCleary, who had gone to Japan for her holidays; and Mrs. McCleary. AND HARRY TOOK COUNT.—Harry Wills, negro aspirant to Jack Dempsey's title, went to court to try to stop the Dempsey-Firpo party. But the little mixup went on just the same. Here we see the colored giant and some of his admirers outside the courthouse in New York. Note how he towers above the crowd.

WALKS, TALKS AND THINKS LIKE LINCOLN.—Arthur M. Bennett, Worcester, Mass., printer and toolmaker, in a startling impersonation of Abraham Lincoln—and as he is. Lincoln was six feet, three inches tall. So is Bennett. And he has the same rugged features, the same strong lines at the mouth, the humorous yet kindly lips, the deep-set eyes, and the almost ungainly length of leg below the knee.

ON AGAIN, OFF AGAIN.—Hardly had the Italian troops sent to occupy the Island of Corfu, made themselves comfortable on the Greek Island when orders came for them to pack up and evacuate. This picture shows landing parties from the Italian fleet disembarking following the bombardment of Corfu.

UNEARTHING OLD BANK BILLS.—During the last few days several old bank notes have been brought forth out of stockings and midwesty corners and have been presented at banks. Here is one dug up in Toronto. It is a bill of the Royal Canadian Bank (no relative of the present Royal Bank) and bears date of July 25, 1865, and therefore ante-dates Confederation.

CAUSES RALLY

(By Burdick Bros. Ltd.)
New York, Sept. 27.—Early dealings in the market were overshadowed by the strength in Baltimore and Ohio, which was reported to the dividend announcement late yesterday. The dividend declaration has created the impression that a dividend may be declared on Southern Railway at the next meeting and has also stimulated a more favorable impression.

BUYING SUPPORT ON BREAK TO-DAY

(By Burdick Bros. Ltd.)
Chicago, Sept. 27.—Wheat prices reacted from the early bulge, but there was support on the break, and rallies in corn brought in fair buying. The news was not especially bullish in any respect, except that the crowd were inclined to buy on the impression that the wheat tariff might be revised upwards. However, such a step probably will not be taken without a great deal of consideration, as it might precipitate a tariff war with Canada. At present the proposed tariff rates in a little bit vague for use as a definite buying motive. Receipts of wheat in this country are small, and as the season progresses we believe conditions will favor bulls more so far as the domestic conditions are concerned. However, we do not feel disposed to ignore entirely the huge Canadian movement present and prospective, the indifferent expert demand, or the bullish reports on Russian offerings. We would not advise buying on this rally, and would wait the developments next day or so, or until the September deliveries are out of the way.

COMEDY PRODUCED AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Wedding Bells This Week's Offering; Draws Large Initial House

"Wedding Bells" is the title of the play now being presented at The Playhouse by the Compton Players. The production has already cemented the popularity of this clever company with the theatre-going public. This was evidenced by the appreciative audience which greeted the initial performance of this three-act comedy last night.

A matrimonial tangle is developed by the divorced wife of Reginald Carter, which part is taken by Francis Compton in his inimitable manner.

The role of the divorced wife is taken by Peggy Dupdas, with her charming manner and winning personality. Marcia Hunter, who is to marry Reginald, is admired by another gentleman, Douglas Ordway, which part is taken by Bruce Bredin. Marcia is portrayed by Miss Belle Eilers, a local lady of exceptional talent, while Hooper, an English maid, is a part taken by Miss Burton, who has been with the company since its inception here. Mrs. Hunter, Marcia's mother, is a role taken by Miss Catherine McDonagh. Jack, an English servant, is a sophisticated person who has a penchant for pretty housemaids. This character is taken by Herbert Leslie. Fuzaki, a Chinese house boy, whose Christian teachings have taught him to tell the truth a little more often than the Carter household wished, is taken by Will Marshall, another local actor.

PANTAGES

Crowded houses at the "Pan" testify to the public's appreciation of the vaudeville bill for this week, which closes with two shows to-night. The Lomas Company, with its breath of Drury Lane and English music halls, and Dave Vail and Luella Temple, in "Making Non-

DOMINION

Ellnor Glyn is the most picturesque figure writing in English to-day. Tall and beautiful, gifted socially and intellectually, she combines the poise of a duchess with great natural charm.

The author of "Six Days," "Three Weeks" and other well-known stories she is the daughter of Douglas Sutherland, an English aristocrat, long settled in Ontario, Canada.

Her girlhood was spent in the leading social centers of Europe and America. Her knowledge of social customs and society is consequently second to none among contemporary writers. This is evidenced by the elaborate detail with which her stories are crowded.

Ever since Roosevelt published the results of his explorations in South America Carey has been fired with the ambition to walk the footsteps of the great naturalist.

He has accumulated a comprehensive library on South America, a rare collection of maps and charts, and has been posting himself as far as was possible on the flora and fauna of those vast and mysterious regions so inaccessible to man.

Mr. Carey intends to take with him a half dozen of the hardy, rugged range riders who are working with him in his motion picture production. He believes that his iron frame and sturdy constitution so injured to hardship and the outdoors will enable him to survive the deadly great social favorite. She accomplishes a tremendous amount of work, having an almost unlimited capacity and endurance.

She began her career as a writer with the publication of "The Vistas of Elkins." This book went into many editions and established her at once among the most popular writers.

Other books came from her pen, among them the well-known and much-discussed novel, "Three Weeks." This book created a storm of approval and disapproval. It became at once, and has still remained, one of the most widely-talked-of books in the English language.

"Six Days" is an original screen story by Miss Glyn. The story deals with the aftermath of the Great War. The principal dramatic action takes place in six days. Hence its name. Seeing its vivid possibilities as a gripping screen story of modern love, it was purchased by the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation. They immediately engaged such well-known players as Corinne Griffith, Frank Mayo, Claude King, Myrtle Stedman and Maude George to appear in it.

Charles Brabin, the husband of Theda Bara, was chosen to direct it. During the filming of "Six Days," Theda Bara was an interested spectator. It is said that she made many helpful suggestions. "Six Days" is appearing at the Dominion Theatre all this week.

COLUMBIA

Accumulating fame and reputation as a motion picture star, not as an end in themselves, but as a means toward the realization of a lifetime ambition, Harry Carey, idol of Westerns, is quietly but determinedly making his plans for a well-organized, thoroughly-equipped expedition to explore the headwaters of the Amazon River.

Ever since Roosevelt published the results of his explorations in South America Carey has been fired with the ambition to walk the footsteps of the great naturalist.

Handley Wells Prepares Very Fine Music Programme

MR. HANDLEY WELLS

In keeping with his promise at the opening of the Fall season of the Dominion Theatre, Mr. Handley Wells is providing each week for the patrons of the Yates Street theatre, a musical programme which displays his own talents as a pianist, illustrating the attitude that Mr. Wells has for playing the organ.

Mr. Wells has prepared the following musical programme: "Andante Fifth Symphony" by Tchaikovsky; "Yucas," by Cadman; "Tired Hands," by Sanderson; "Inflammation," by Rossini; "Sonata Pathétique," by Beethoven and "Frieze at Berceuse," by Bullmunt.

In addition to this delightful musical rendition the usual motion pictures features are being shown. The production this week is "Six Days." It is a colorful and picturesque screen story by the famous English writer, Ellnor Glyn.

also to some extent reimburse me for my trip. However, if I am out fifty or seventy-five thousand on the trip I will consider myself amply rewarded by the adventure and fun of the enterprise.

Mr. Carey's latest picture, "Crashin' Thru," is to be shown at Columbia Theatre to-day.

CAPITOL

"I hear people now and then talk of starting a movement to get rid of the dog days. Well, personally, I bark a protest!"

So says Rintintin, the prize police dog, who is a screen actor into the bargain.

He has seen the dog days traced, reviled, calumniated, hated and while they don't apply to the canine species, still he thinks it unfair that every good and honest pup, cur, hound or thoroughbred should have to bear the burden of hot August weather.

This famous dog, who earns over $500 each week in motion pictures and whose latest picture is "Where the North Begins," is a hard and fast romance of the northern woods, rich with the tang of the wild, is quite a human dog, both in understanding and emotion. He told the interviewer the following things, in the form of lusty barks:

"I'm a hundred per cent. dog and I'm all for dogs enjoying themselves—having their dog days, in other words. But I don't just see the point of people looking down condescendingly on dog days and, confusing us with the climate, pretending they're ready to die, and all because of what they erroneously call the dog days. I and hundred other dogs are starting a movement to educate people so they won't use the dog days in vain, verbally or any way. We dogs can't be blamed for the tricks of the weather, and we want the dog days elevated to respectability, so it will mean something good, you see."

"I wish somebody would come and tip me off as to what people mean by dog days. Has it something to do with the dog star and its influence on our weather? If so, here you have me, a respectable dog star. For the love of—whatever it is, I don't see how just because I'm a dog star I influence anything. It's just as hot for me as for the rest of the dogs. We dogs shouldn't be held to blame for the heat."

Rintintin, according to his master, can do anything any other dog can do, and a few tricks into the bargain. He has the running dog championship, can easily catch a stream twenty feet wide, and negotiate a hurdle five feet high.

He is to be seen in "Where the North Begins," which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre. This is a Warner Brothers classic of the screen. It is the story of a wolf-dog, descended from dogs but bred among wolves, whose love, once again thrown in with mankind, and who saves the life of Felice McTavish from the designs of a trading post factor, Shad Galloway.

"Where the North Begins" is played by a cast consisting of the following: Claire Adams, Walter McNeil, Pat Hartigan, Myrtle Owen, Charles Stevens, Fred Huntley and Rintintin. The story is a collaboration by Fred Kennedy Mylon and Chester Franklin. The latter also directed the production.

ROYAL VICTORIA

"Allen," queried Director James Young while casting for his production of "Wandering Daughters," the First National picture playing at the Royal Theatre again to-day, "what would you think of a man who tried to get a girl whom he knows has never had any association with men, and who does not know her own mind on the subject of matrimony, to elope with him?"

"Well, sir," answered Allen Forrest, "chances are that if such a man was to try to get a sister of mine to elope with him and I knew that it wasn't the purest kind of love that prompted him to make such a proposal I'd give him a bump in the nose he wouldn't forget. I'd think he was a pretty despicable sort of a fellow."

"Fine," replied Director Young, "then you can play just such a man when we begin shooting 'Wandering Daughters.' Your screen name will be Austin Trull and the more despicable you make the character the better your success will be."

So, of such stuff was the young male vamp of Mr. Young's picture developed.

In addition to the above feature the management of the Royal will present the biggest extra attraction that has ever been presented in conjunction with the regular programme of pictures showing the earthquake at Yokohama. The production starts with the leaving of the Empress of Australia for Yokohama, its arrival there, scenes in the harbor and the earthquake and fire which razed a number of towns.

Yellow Cab

Respects the other fellow

YELLOW CAB drivers do not reserve all of their consideration for the patron in the cab. The rights of pedestrians are recognized and respected.

Courtesy is something we all owe each other and YELLOW CAB drivers show their consideration for the other fellow many times a day, every day in the year. They recognize that courtesy is an asset.

We are constantly receiving letters praising our drivers for little acts of courtesy. Some day we will publish some of the letters we receive from the public and you will no longer feel surprised when a YELLOW CAB driver holds back traffic to insure safe passage to pedestrians.

A simple act of courtesy is a ray of sunshine in our busy business life and our men cannot perform too many of them to suit us. Nor do YELLOW CAB drivers limit their courtesy to pedestrians. They often show the same spirit to vehicles in traffic, which proves to us that they are in the habit of being courteous.

We are proud of our men because they are earnest and intelligent, but most of all we are proud of them because they are courteous.

APPROVES SYLLABUS OF EVENING COURSE

City School Board Prepares
For Six Months' Session

Trustee Brown Wishes Classes to be Self-Sustaining

The City School Board approved last evening the syllabus and fees for the evening continuation classes to be operated under its auspices, commencing on Monday. Further the list of teachers to instruct students was accepted.

There was some discussion as to the cost of operation, in support of Trustee Brown's statement that the classes should be made as far as possible self-supporting. Some alterations were made to adjust the syllabus to meet that policy.

Night school work was strongly defended by Trustee Sivertz.

Mrs. Moore, educational secretary of the Y.W.C.A., was stated to be desirous to establish physical training for girls in the evenings, under the Board's auspices, but financed by the Y.W.C.A.

Certain conditions were proposed to be imposed which Municipal Inspector Dean believed ought to be carefully considered, and under the circumstances he decided to refer the matter back to Mr. Dean for further investigation.

The trustees favored a policy of employing teachers in the evening schools who were not engaged during the day in school instruction.

Poor Man's University
Municipal Inspector Dean explained the advantages to be derived from the evening continuation classes—the poor man's university; it had been called. He explained to the board exactly how the schedule of classes followed past policy, and broke new ground on subjects not hitherto taught.

The pottery classes had been rendered possible by the Summer School equipment, and he would remind the board it gave potentiality of a new industry on Vancouver Island for the tourist business. He warmly supported the arts class, and other new classes which had been called for by the applications to the supervisor.

Trustee Brown reminded the trustees that the board had promised early in the year to consider the situation in its relation to making the classes self-supporting. Now the syllabus was out with a scale of fees which the board was simply asked to confirm, instead of consider as a new project. He asked for individual consideration of the schedule.

Trustee Sivertz declared there was a strong case for meeting Mr. Brown's suggestion, and the board adopted that course, taking up item by item.

Says Best Investment
"I consider the night schools the best investment the city makes in school expenditure," observed Trustee Sivertz, in answering a comment that the schools had cost $2,000 a year to the board. Night schools were used by those who had reached an age to appreciate the value of education, he said.

Trustee Beckwith said what they wanted were numbers, and numbers they would not get unless they made the fees popular and light.

Trustee A. G. Smith expressed the opinion that fees suggested were fair, in the light of the experience of fees charged for similar services elsewhere. The students were getting the run of a large building with all the equipment at a reasonable figure.

Maintain Minimum Attendance
The board asked the inspector to have a close watch kept on attendance, to see that the minimum was sustained, failing which the classes should be discontinued.

Trustee Sivertz brought out the fact that the classes would earn a grant for salaries, which ought to be considered in estimating the aggregate cost to the ratepayers.

Since the original plan had been considered he had met Mr. Carey on the ground, and some alterations were now suggested to attain a more effective result. Estimates of seeding down the grounds had been prepared for the information of the board.

After hearing the various details it was decided to adopt a recommendation to award a contract to J. Clark, financial details having been already arranged, with the usual government grant in aid for school grounds.

AGENDA PROMISES SHARP DEBATES

Programme For B.C. School
Trustees Association Convention Issued

To judge from the agenda paper presented to the City School Board last evening of the annual convention of the British Columbia School Trustees Association, which will be held at Duncan on October 16, 17 and 18, there are many resolutions of a highly controversial character to be considered.

The Board decided to defer the appointment of its delegates until the regular monthly meeting on October 10.

With the agenda paper came a schedule of resolutions, numbering about thirty-five, which have been sent in by the various boards. This will not exhaust the list, as the resolutions committee will receive other important ones before the convention settles down to business.

Trustee J. Harwood, of Vernon, is the president of this term, and the Mayor of Duncan, O. T. Smythe, who is also a trustee, will welcome the delegates to the Cowichan city in his capacity of second vice-president. The only Victoria representative on the executive is Trustee H. F. Hewitt, of Oak Bay.

This will be the twentieth convention, and is expected to be widely attended. Standardization of teachers' salaries and zoning of teaching districts on a salary basis form some of the subjects to be discussed and are likely to produce a lively debate.

North Vancouver, Burnaby and Nanaimo all raise questions affecting the moral development of young people in the schools, the Nanaimo resolutions asking for a card of honor to be signed by the pupils pledging them to good behavior.

Burnaby would see Bible reading in the schools and North Vancouver wishes to see the use of the Lord's Prayer made compulsory.

Saanich Board has a motion to alter the school holidays by advancing the date into the soft fruit picking season, so that the children may be in a position to help in the fields after June 16.

Vancouver Board raises the question of girls' technical schools, and North Vancouver district would have some fund created of a provincial character to help trustee boards to build without resort to money by-laws in an emergency during the year.

Vancouver and other boards ask for the institution of the minimum of educational survey of the Province.

There are also many other questions of importance to be raised in the form of resolution.

There will be the usual convention dinner on the evening of the second day.

VETERANS AGAINST AMALGAMATION PLAN

Army and Navy Convention
Takes Stand Against G.W.V.A.

Calgary, Sept. 27.—Opposing the influx of people from Southern Europe and from the Orient to Canada, delegates to the annual convention of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association of Canada unanimously passed a resolution calling on the Federal Government to concentrate its immigration policy to Great Britain.

Major M. J. Crehan, Vancouver, President, viewed the present situation with alarm and declared that something would have to be done if this country was to be saved for the white race.

"In another 100 years at the present rate," he declared, "we will be in the same position as the Indians are today if something is not done to stop the increase in immigration from the Orient. The situation is a dangerous one and immediate steps should be taken to remedy it."

Amalgamation of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association of Canada with other Canadian ex-service men's organizations will not be even contemplated for another year at least. This was the unanimous decision reached by the convention.

Major M. J. Crehan stated that while he favored the principle of amalgamation, he was opposed to it as it now stands. He said that the underlying principle, beneath the amalgamation-proposals of the Great War Veterans' Association was not amalgamation but the absorption of the A.N.V.A. by the G.W.V.A. He urged the delegates to stand fast on the resolution passed at the last Toronto convention and said, if the present indications were any criterion, absorption of other veteran organizations by the A.N.V.A. might be a possibility in the next five years.

Ninety-five per cent. of the delegates at the convention spoke in favor of continuing the A.N.V.A. as it now stands.

ACCIDENT CASE RESULTS IN CHARGE

City Resident Charged With Infraction of Motor Act

A sequel to the accident on Quadra Street last week, when Constable Robert S. Brown, of the Saanich police force, was knocked down and seriously injured, developed in the Saanich police court yesterday afternoon at Royal Oak, when J. Watson, Topaz Avenue, was charged with driving at a speed to endanger the life and limb of that officer.

James A. Aikman appeared for the accused, who pleaded not guilty. Evidence was submitted touching on the accident and its result. Medical evidence indicated that Constable Brown would recover. E. L. Tait acted for Saanich. Magistrate Jay reserved judgment until Monday at 3 p.m.

Messrs. Fraser Tolmie, A. Sangster and Major Buck were each fined $20 for speeding.
